

Title	Research program for 6G Radio
Description	The next generation 6G radio systems will use cell free architecture, new modulation and multiple access schemes, use of THz band, MIMO mobile wireless access . Define and execute the Research program for developing 6G radio techniques for future communication products with well defined milestones.